Cleveland Junior Naval Academy

The 1999 Muster

Grover Cleveland High School was erected in 1913 as a civilian High School. In September 1984, the school converted to a Naval format and officially adopted the name Cleveland Junior Naval Academy.

Cleveland thus became a very unique institution. As a partnership between the Saint Louis Public School System and the United States Navy, our school has become the second largest Naval academy in the nation, second only to the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis. We are also the only public military school in the country and the only school to wear an official military issued uniform five days a week. CJNA has been conferred status as an Honor School by the United States Navy for the past nine consecutive years.

When the NJROTC program first began at Kenard High in 1981, enrollment barely exceeded two hundred. After three years, the program moved into Cleveland and the enrollment had reached seven hundred. Since 1992, Cleveland has had the highest number of applicants of all the Saint Louis Public School System's magnet schools. Although Cleveland cannot accommodate all students, last year Cleveland's peak enrollment fell just short of 1,100 cadets.

The purpose of Cleveland is to provide a comprehensive education in a military environment. The essentials of success that we stress are self-control, self-discipline, self-esteem, and leadership.

Our cadets are placed in academic classes ranging from advanced placement, college credit courses to special education classes for those students with special needs. Extra curricular activities include sports: football, softball, volleyball, basketball, baseball, soccer, and track and field. Extra curricular military organizations include: Boy's and Girl's drill teams, Fifty State Flag unit, Color Guards, Honor Guard, and marksmanship teams. Twelve retired Navy, Marine, and Coast Guard, and Personnel provide military instruction, all of which have at least twenty years of service.

Regimental Staff in route to represent our school at Pass In Review.

"This is the last one. Let's keep our heads up."

Regimental Staff is the glory of Cleveland. They contribute their time and energy into their grades, military bearing, and extra curricular activities.

Alpha Company-Dismiss!!!

C/CAPT Furqan and the XO, C/CDR Kayser prepare to dismiss their regiment for the final time. They helped our unit become #1 at Area 9 Inspection.

Graduation 1999

Graduation at Cleveland is a structured, military occasion which traditionally ends with the cadets throwing their covers (hats) into the air.

Ray Alexander

Ray Alexander

I leave two things to the underclassmen.

First I leave my coolness to Aryn Bostic and second, my IDR team to Cadet Ritz.

Jamie Allen

I leave my good looks to Charmaine Green and my credits to those who need them.

Alex Berding

Alex Berding

I leave my good looks and flirting skills to Mike Reiter; my ignorant attitude to Tim McGrath; my soccer team to Matt Chouinard; my sleeping ability to Gabe Pope and to the chicks of 99 (Michelle, Jen) and the studs (Fabio, Jason, myself), stay real and never 'sell-out'. Thanks for all the memories.

Sarah Bogacki

Sarah Bogacki

To the underclassmen, I leave the simplicity of the school to get A's and the ability to walk out the front door early.

Bobby Bolin

Bobby Bolin

To my parents, I leave my thanks for raising me the best you could and putting up with all my mistakes; my brother Jimmy, my jumper because you need one; my love to Natasha, I'll never forget you. To everyone else, goodbye and God bless...

Brian Booker

I leave my smile to who needs it, my love to those who cared and stood by me, and my motivation to who needs to get on the right track.

Sarah Botkin

Sarah Botkin

I leave my thanks to MCPO Kemp; memories to Jay Hooker and love to Matt Alvarado; love, friendship, and all the tears to Erin Moore that we shared from these players. Whoever gets them now, it's your fault.

Keisha Boykin

Keisha L. Boykin

I leave all my love and the good memories that we shared to Keiona Jones. Keep the lunch table conversation enticing as always.

Ray Alexander-In ten years I would like to be an Air Force officer working on my flying career. I will have my Bachelor's degree and working on my Master's. Jamie Allen-In ten years I will be a successful designer in St. Louis raising my beautiful daughter and married to her father. Alex Berding-In ten years I will be a St. Louis Police officer married to that very lucky woman raising our lovable children. (continued on page 35)

Terron Brooks

Terron Brooks

I leave my leadership and football skills to my cousin, Levi; my hair to my cousin,

Terry Wilson; my flirting skills to Cory Ant; my post up moves and game face looks to Diamond Gladney; my strength to Courtney Johnson, and finally, I leave my extra credits and stars to the D.H.C.

Perry Bryant

I leave all my jokes to Michael Warren and the weight I lose to Chanita Valiant.

Anthony Buress

Anthony C. Buress

I leave my boy Tazz to CoCo; my games for the ladies to Courtney Johnson; my dancing and social skills to my cousin, Rolandis Nash; my goofiness to my sister, Bracia, my EMI to all of the freshmen; and last of all, all my credits to the unfortunate.

Stephen Burgett III

Steve Burgett '96 '99

I leave my skills on the court to all the underclassmen hoopers and my abilities in the classroom to my sisters, Amanda and Sara.

Jennifer Burke

Jennifer Lee Burke

I leave my credits to my sister, Sarah (because she'll need them); my X-files locker to Mikki Garcia; my bed in the MAA office to Amanda Broyles and good luck to the class of 99.

Joseph Busso

Joseph Ryan Busso

I'm not leaving anything to the freshmen because I have nothing to leave. Even if I did, I earned it and I'm keeping it.

Jennifer Carter

Jennifer Carter

I leave my locker and my memories to Erin Adams and many thanks to the one and only, Mr. Ruffin. I cannot leave my loyal friendship to anyone because Michelle already has it.

Crystal Cheney

Crystal Ann Cheney

I leave 'the picture' to MSGT Roe, A pack of gum to MCPO Kemp, the bugs in supply to Chief Hair, my position on the volleyball court to Amanda Burgett, and my locker to Steve Wahle. I give my love and memories to Tierra, KaShaleen, and Charles. Good luck class of 99.

Terron Brooks- In ten years I will have a degree in criminal justice and be an undercover narcotics detective. I will be married to that special someone with a lil Big T in our own house driving a nice car. Perry Bryant- In ten years I will be the head of my own computer design incorporation and a NFL Hall of Famer. Anthony Buress- In ten years I will be wealthy, own a luxurious home with a maid, and continue to do whatever it is that makes my happy.

Timothy Cochran

I leave Lashonda my patience, my rope to Hurst, my good grades to Levi, and my position on the debate team to Latoya Dudley.

I leave my cuteness and my way with the

John Cole

John D Cole "Rudy"

ladies to all the little guys; my smariness to Gina; my athleticism to Chuck; my mad skills to Diamond and my lunchroom space to everybody who wants to be like me.

These are GC's last words: ball till you fall

George Cotton

and keep your head up and never forget where you came from. I leave my game to all the players out there especially Phil Berry, this rope to anyone who can handle it, and my skills to nobody because there will never be another GC.

Rhonda Crawford

Michael Zeller

Michael D. Zeller

I leave my good looks to those who need them and my ability to be quiet yet troublesome to the next one.

Aaron Zoellner

I don't leave anything to anyone

Tremayne Young- In ten years, I would like to be in a big corporation working with computers, married with two children and a nice house and car. Michael Zeller will be in the Marines serving as a kernel involved with mechanical engineering and in search of that lucky lady. Aaron Zoellner- In ten years, I will have a BA in auto mechanics, I will be happily married (without children) and still living in St. Louis.

Sarah Bogacki- In ten years I will be married to a man with blue eyes who has a good future. I will have a daughter who has blue eyes and not in St. Louis. Bobby Bolin- I don't really know where I'll be in ten years. You can only live one day at a time. But wherever I do go in life, I hope to live comfortably and to be happy with myself and who I am. Sarah Botkin- In ten years I will be a JAG officer in the USMC single without children. Keisha Boykin- In ten years I will be in the Marines in the military police. Steve Burgett- In ten years I will have a bachelor's degree in computer engineering and making $60,000 a year. I will be married, residing in West County, and driving a new Lincoln Town Car. Jennifer Burke- In ten years I will hopefully be in the Air Force doing something successful. If not, I'll replace the girl on the X-Files and play her role. Joe Busso- In ten years, I will be in the SEAL teams. Jennifer Carter- In ten years I plan to have completed my commitment to the navy and will be running a large animal veterinary clinic, living in a nice house in the country married with one son. Crystal Cheney- In ten years I will be an elementary school teacher married a person that loves as much as I love him and MAYBE have 1 or 2 children living as far away from St. Louis as possible. Clifton Davis- In ten years, I will be a computer engineer living in a nice house with a wife and one child. I'll have two pit bulls and drive a 2009 Navigator. Arvelle Dickerson- In ten years, I will be a successful engineer making top dollars in the industry, married to a beautiful (mentally as well as physically) woman, and have two or three beautiful children. Shaunlett Diggs- In ten years I will have my nursing degree. I will also be married to a wonderful man with two beautiful children living in a big, pretty house with a swimming pool. Jimmy Divinny- In ten years, I hope to be a Major League baseball player, making an average salary, married to Amanda Hendrix with two kids. Christy McNese- In ten years, I would have completed my time in the Marines and moved on to be a St. Louis police officer. I hope to be happily married to a loving husband with one or two children. Elcardo Moore- In ten years, I would have taken over my father's business, living in a nice house, and driving a top of the line car, God willing. I plan to be married to a strong successful black woman with one child. David Mullen- In ten years, I will be married to my sweetheart, Shavonne Pittman (if God permits it) with two children, and living in the country with a dog and some fish. I will be a Division One drum and bugle corps drumline instructor traveling the country. Julia Perkins- In ten years, I will be Mrs. Billy Brazzle with three lovely children. I will have my Bachelor's Degree as a lawyer, living in Spanish Lake, and driving a Lincoln Navigator.

as a pediatric nurse. I will be driving a fully loaded 1999 candy red Ford Expedition XLT 4x4. Shane Reckert- In ten years, I will be a professional hockey player, making millions, and looking better than always. Justin Reese- In ten years, I would have finished my career in the Army and have a degree in computer programming. I will have a job as a game designer with a family and a house. Tiara Reese- In ten years I will be successful, married to the love of my life raising one child who will be spoiled just like me living in New York. Sherika Savage- In ten years, I will be a successful bachlorette facing life's challenges and striving to complete unfinished goals. I will not only have the best but have the attitude and knowledge to know not to settle for less. Justin Schulte- I would like to be in the NFL, but realistically I will be married to Emily with two kids, supporting my younger brother with my famous cooking, "This is how you really cook it." Just kidding RyRy. Laketa Searcy- I would like to have a high paying job and maybe a nice family. DeAndrea Smith- In ten years, I will be a successful attorney and married to the man of my dreams. I will still be kicking it with my best friends, Tierra, Rachel and Bebe. Fabian Smith- In ten years I would like to be out of the military and on my way to becoming a federal agent. I will live in a house with a dog and a white picket fence, own a car, and be married to that special someone with a set of twin boys that will grow up to be just like me. Stacy Starks- In ten years, I will be a successful wife, mother, and career woman in the USMC. I will have accomplished all my set goals and reaching even furth toward my dreams everyday. Clifton Stock- In ten years, I wil be working for a big company as a heating and air conditioning technician. I will have a big house and maybe be married. Sarah Struttmann- In ten years, I will be married to Joe, the love of my life with two children working in business. Darryl Sykes- In ten years, I would like to be in the NFL making millions or a band instructor for a historical black university band. Hella Turoczy- My life is still unsure, but I am confident that my life has a true purpose to help people in anyway I can. Hopefully god will forgive my mistakes and in ten years I will be happy. Thats all. Lamount Tyler- In ten years, I will be either a zoologist or a broadcast journalist, married with two or three kids. Aisha Wade- in ten years I will be living in Washington DC, married to Jamie Henry with two children and working for the biggest computer company there. Tamika Walton- In ten years I will be successful criminal attorney almost ready to open my own firm. I will also be well on my way to building a daycare center and I will be with someone who loves me just for being me. Brian Wilson- In ten years, I plan on being married to whoever. I'm not really sure. I want to have four kids but I guess I have to find that wife first. I also plan on being a great building contractor like Bob Vila. Anishka Young- In ten years I will have a degree in business and own my own salon and night club, saving for my hug wedding in Disney World.

Bravo Company

C/LT Broyles was the commander of Bravo Company this year. She is one of the top students in her class, a member of National Honor Society, played volleyball and soccer, and is the commander of the girls' IDR drill team. She motivates her subordinates very well and has earned the respect given to her.

BRAVO

Military Science Curriculum focuses on topics of school that enrich or enhance the regular classes that are offered in a traditional school.

For the BRAVO COMPANY, the challenges and qualities of Leadership are the initial study with methods of evaluating a performance and how to give instruction as a follow up. The Science topics include several units of Earth Science including Astronomy and Meteorology. History is studied from World War II to Desert Storm, as well as International Law and Military Law. Other Specific topics covered in the third year of NJROTC are Merchant Marine, Navy Research and Development, Naval Intelligence and Counterintelligence. By the third year, the top students have been groomed for a position of responsibility on the Regimental Staff. In the middle of May, at an auditorium session, the selection of the next year's leading cadets is announced; there is always a lot of speculation by staff and students alike.

Starting forward, Leroy Wright, tries to score on CVPA.

Charlie Company

Military Science Curriculum focuses on topics of school that enrich or enhance the regular classes that are offered in a traditional school. For the CHARLIE COMPANY, the psychology of leadership skills is a major area of study. Citizenship and fundamentals of American Democracy as well as Rights and Responsibilities of American Citizenship and alternate form of government are studied. History of the US since 1815 through World War I are presented. Science topics are addressed through the general study of the chemistry of the oceans and ocean life.

The cadets also learn basic military courtesies that easily translate to the civilian environment. They learn how to polish their shoes and how to properly wear the military uniform. The cadets who prove themselves to be good leaders are allowed to be members of the guard squad during the second semester.

C/LCDR Betty Rambo was the commander of Charlie Company this year. This had been a family tradition for her. Her two older sisters also were Charlie Company commanders when they attended Cleveland. She is a member of the Conflict Resolution team and the captain of the soccer team. Betty did an excellent job this year with the sophomores. She exhibits the characteristics of a good leader: dedication, honesty, and a good delegater (just ask her XO, Charles).

A Day in the High-Stress

Life of a Sophomore

Delta Company

Military Science Curriculum focuses on topics of school that enrich or enhance the regular classes that are offered in a traditional school. For the DELTA COMPANY, the cadets are given instructions on how to study and the qualities of being a good leader and a good follower. The students discuss general Social Studies topics that include geography and history; they discuss General Science topics that include Oceanography and Life in the Sea. Health Education topics include First Aid, Human Growth and Development and the use and abuse of drugs, alcohol and tobacco. The cadets also learn basic military courtesies that easily translate to the civilian environment. They learn how to polish their shoes and how to properly wear the military uniform. The cadets who prove themselves to be good leaders are allowed to be members of the guard squad during the second semester.

C/LCDR Pittman was in charge of Delta Company, the largest and most challenging company in the regiment. She was the commander of the girls' exhibition drill team. She devoted a lot of time and effort to motivate and train her subordinates.

Sir! I am a Freshman, Sir!

Junior Naval Academy Band

The band is directed by Dr. O'Briant. The Band performs at aud sessions, competitions and Pass In Review.

Anthony Long likes the music but its dangerous so close to the Drum Line!

Members, John Ysaguirre, John Rotellini, Adam Simon, and Aaron Price, breathe between numbers.

At the onset of the Homecoming Parade, students are elated with all the fun that they are about to have.

Nakeeta McDonald enjoys performing in the Homecoming Parade as much as the people enjoy hearing it!

Under the graceful direction of Dr. O'Briant, the band serenades the Clevelandites packed into the Aud.

Drum Major, Jonhmondo Rotellini, is a sophomore standout. He leads the band into their performances and acts as their commander.

Nakeeta McDonald and Elizabeth Holdman play their flutes in a solo.

The misunderstood genius, Dr. O'Briant, keeps mental notes on the performance.

The Band performs at the Pep Rally and helps to excite cadets about the upcoming Homecoming activities and school year

Under the direction of Mr. Broombaugh the choir has steadily improved their performances and presentation over the past two years. Because of this the student body has grown to love the choir.

The choir is shown performing at the Black History Program. They helped to set the mood for Black History JEOPARDY!

The acapella soloists are wildly popular among the students.

At the Christmas program the concert choir performed the gospel piece "Oh Lord" to a rousing ovation.

The Cleveland Junior Naval Academy concert choir performs at special events such as Pass in Review, holiday assemblies, and most other Aud Sessions.

The soloist group of Devon Hawkins, Levi Lawson, Kenneth Jackson, Shawn Moore, and Martin Collins occasionally treat us to a stunning acapella performance.

Ramar Bishop accompanie the choir with wonderful piano selections

The charismatic student director, Kenneth Jackson, gets the crowds into the act.

Bally Gives Back to St. Louis

Bally Total Fitness donated their old gym equipment to the St. Louis Public School System. As a host to the press conference, Cleveland received $75,000 of the $250,000 donation worth.

Our cadet captain, Matt Furqan, participated in the press conference. Shown in his track jersey, Matt also plays football, is in honor guard, color guard, NHS, and apparently, weight lifting, among other things.

Betty Jo Rambo is shown demonstrating the excellent new (to us) gym equipment. Obviously she wants to bulk up for her soccer team. From what we hear, the girls get pretty rough out there.

Terry Wilson can attest to how important this fly movement is. His ability to shrug off opposition has rewarded him with several sacks and successful defenses of the QB.

Nakeeta McDonald tones her calves under the direction of Bally's personal fitness trainers.

Erin Moore prepares to take control of the soccer and softball teams next year. But she doesn't let that responsibility interrupt her fun.

Honor Roll

This year's Honor Roll assembly featured an amazing 273 students. The kids with a 3.2 GPA or higher numbered higher than any previous year.

The hardwork and perserverance of all the cadets culminated with recognition in front of the regiments and it's guests.

Arvelle Dickerson, like all other Honor Roll nominees and Honorable Mentions, crossed the stage individually, had their names mentioned, and received a medal from Mrs. Amos.

The Regimental Commander, and Co-Salutatorian, presents his academically outstanding students before the rest of the regiment.

One quarter of all students enrolled in Cleveland Junior Naval Academy accomplished the admirable task of academic devotion and excellence.

Change of Command

The 1998-1999 Regimental Staff is considered to be the best all-around staff of Cleveland's history. The Naval Science Instructors recognized this staff by presenting each member with a "Sustained Excellence" award at this year's Change of Command; a first.

C/Capt. Furqan did a wonderful job with his regiment. He was in 3 sports, was on honor guard, member of NHS, and was salutatorian.

C/Cdr Kayser did outstanding as Deputy. She was in NHS, yearbook, organized aud. sessions and was very accessible to the underclassmen.

Only 3 members of the original 98-99 staff did not finish the year in their position. The stability was remarkable and we hope it continues.

On behalf of the regiment, Yearbook thanks the 98-99 staff for their dedication and congratulates them on a job well done.

The new Regimental Commander, Kim Enloe, steps up for her first duty as captain.

Cadet Commander Ryan Bowen is elated to receive his 5 bars and position as second Battalion CO.

2nd Battalion XO, Angela Farrar, tearily look over the new Operations officer, Camille Dobynes to exchange congratulations.

Crystal Cheney proudly pins C/LTjg Noel Valenzuela as the new Supply XO.

Honor Guard

The team awaits their cue to enter the Aud.

The gentlemen arc swords as the Homecoming candidates are introduced.

Kurth, Cochran, Gibson, Smith, Ward, Hicks, Reese, Collins, Kibler, Long, Johnson; Clark, Furqan, Honaker, Davis, Alexander, Schulte

Honor Guard performed at City Hall for Race Relations Day.

The Vietnamese Association of Missouri was thankful for the performance.

Honor Guard

Tamika Walton waves to the crowd as the other Queen candidates emerge from the swords.

The fine tuned young men are under the direction of MSGT Roe, who started Honor Guard when he came here in 1993.

Swords straight, faces serious, uniforms pressed, shoes shined; military bearing, that's what it's all about.

Dedication, Practice, and Hard Work pay off during performances.

Crowds are silenced as Honor Guard march into the auditorium.

Color Guard

Junior Color Guard has included Daryl Smith, Dawn McGroarty, Kevin Krietner, Sandy Gropp, Chris Childs, Amanda Bagby, Robert Poddig, Bridget Williams, Ryan Bowen, Darron Morgan, Matt Chouinard, and Deangelo Brooks among others. The Color Guard Advisor is MSGT Wilkens.

The Color Guard await their queue before performing at a press conference.

The Color Guard performs before all of the auditorium events such as the Black History Program.

At a Press conference held in the Field House, Bally Vic Tanney announced it would be giving their old equipment to the St. Louis Public School System.

Color Guard watches on during Pass and Review.

Color Guard

Senior Color Guard consisted of Ronetta Williams, Tamika Walton, Nakeeta Miller, Adetutu Fanegan, and Brian Wilson. The Senior Color Guard performs at all competitions and have placed first several times.

The Senior Color Guard usually consists of some of the top cadets in the class.

The Color Guard is an impressive way to represent our school at public functions.

The Color guard plans their performance as they get their marks and queues straightened out

Boys' Exhibition Drill Team

The team under command of C/LTJG Greg Ward (Far right) prepare to showoff at PIR.

Matt Furqan and Brian Wilson know rifle exchange forward and backward.

Ryan Swiney and Levi Lawson awaiting The Catch. You guys are good.

Words from Greg Ward: "Don't lose your concentration or you might put an eye out."

Boys' IDR Drill Team

The boys perform at our annual Homecoming Parade.

C/LTJG Alexander is the commander of the IDR team. They march and use the 13 and 16 count drill movements.

C/LTJG Collins, the XO of the team, brings the troop in. It is mostly composed of freshmen and sophomores.

Cadet Steven Wahle at present arms. Marvelous job, Steve.

A little PT for an unruly cadet. 'Keep those arms up!'

Girls' Drill Teams

The girls on their way to impress their audience at PIR.

C/LCDR Pittman oversees her team at her last PIR. They received many "ooohs and aaahhs". Good job ladies.

Every year the drill teams perform to prospective middle school students that are considering attending Cleveland.

So they got a little behind...

Waiting for their encore...

Fifty Flags Team

Fifty Flags is the largest extra curricular military team at Cleveland Junior Naval Academy. Composed primarily of freshmen, each member carries a state flag representing the unity in our Nation. Senior Chief Parson has sponsored the unit for many years.

Every year Cleveland has a Homecoming Parade. Our various military units perform and demonstrate what the cadets learned the previous year.

The commander, C/ENS Keisha Boykin and the XO, C/ENS Kyle Strobl, encouraged more cadets to join this year than in several of the years past. The two helped form the freshmen into more responsible and likely leaders of the future.

The 1997-98 Leadership Academy

CWO4 Taylor, Charles Clark, Matt Furqan, Shavonne Pittman, Justin Reese, Michelle Roark, Tierra Wright, and John Partin, representative the of Fleet Reserve Association which helps fund the trip for our kids to develop their leadership skills.

Debate Team

The first year for debate, coached by Mr. Ed Taylor and Ms. Deborah Schmidt, the team won National Honors and a trip to Arizona.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society sponsors two blood drives and a food drive.

To be considered for NHS membership, a student must have a 3.40 GPA. To be inducted, the student must submit a packet to a review board of staff members.

Below: The food drive is a major activity with literally tons of food being distributed to the needy.

The induction into NHS is held during an auditorium session; it is a formal ceremony with guest speakers and many family and friends in attendance.

Toys for Tots

Brett Zoellner, Bobby Lockhart, and Adam Wick helped collect over $1000 in cash for the less fortunate children in the St. Louis community.

Toys for Tots is a drive sponsored by the Marine Corps. The Marines have sponsored this community service for 52 years.

Cleveland recieved media attention for our record setting contribution to the Toys for Tots program.

Thanks to the contributions of the student body, Cleveland collected 13 barrels of new toys.

Cleveland always enjoys helping others. Our school is constantly active in the community, providing countless hours of community service and volunteer work.

We Vant your Blood!

The #1 reason to donate blood: maybe help save a life. But a close second would have to be the free cookies and juice.

Annually, Cleveland hosts two blood drives in coordination with the Red Cross. These are sponsored by the National Honor Society. Between the two drives this year, over 170 pints of blood were collected. Here, Amanda Hendrix checks to see if it's a gusher.

Is it just us, or is Brian Wilson looking a little drained? No, seriously, giving blood is loads of fun!

Amanda Broyles and Derek Springmeyer bare their arms in an effort to contribute to the cause.

Mr. E. Taylor downs the freebie juice before rushing back to his class to teach his wonderful kids!

The Command Post Newspaper Staff

The Editorial staff of the newly renamed Command Post is, Lauren Metcalf, Moseetta Dunbar, Elizabeth Blackwood, Susan Hooker, Advisor Kenneth DeNeal, Anthony Long, and Marissa Stockamp.

Editor in Chief, Moseetta Dunbar, interviews a police officer following a drug awareness activity at school.

Newspaper sponsor, Ken DeNeal, is a former journalist himself. He has revitalized a newspaper program that had gone stale and at the same time created a separate Literary Magazine, The Grinder. Look for that one next year!

Photo Editor, Liz Blackwood, is in deep thought on what the theme of her next piece will be.

The Muster Yearbook Staff

The yearbook staff show amazing dedication, as they continued their work into the summer at LTJg Owens house. Bronson Bush, Jamie Kayser, and Glenn Owens were the only ones to work on the yearbook and spent many hours insuring the quality of this very book.

Despite the appearance of being all fun and games the yearbook is actually a very difficult thing to sign on for.

Jamie applies her Valedictorian genius to each of her pages. This provides for high quality work. Can you tell which pages she made?

As a Photographer Bronson got the good seats for all the events. The only catch was that it was work and he didn't get to actually use the seats!

Early in the year the yearbook "committee" held a picture sale to help finance this stellar book. Selling last year's unused pictures for primarily a quarter, we raised almost $100! Thanks a Lot! Hope you're looking forward to next year's sale, too!

Cleveland NJROTC Staff

Is it just us or do these two look like they're having too much fun?

LTJG Owens looks a little worried in the care of Ms. McCain.

For only the second time in history, a president was impeached by the United States House of Representatives. Like Andrew Johnson in 1868, President William Jefferson Clinton was impeached by the House on charges of perjury and obstruction of justice.

Independent Prosecutor, Kenneth Starr, investigated the President and brought a referral against him to the House of Representatives' Judiciary Committee. Republican Congressman from Illinois, Henry Hyde presided over the Judiciary Committee that brought two Articles of Impeachment against the 42nd President. The President was tried by the Senate, and Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, William Rehnquist presided.

Simultaneous bombings occurred in the U.S. Embassies in Nairobi, Kenya, and Dar Es Salaam, Tanzania, killing 257 people and injuring more than 5,000.

Whether you like it or not, "That 70's Show" on Fox aimed to do for the 70's what Happy Days did for the 1950's.

Sarah Michelle Gellar starred as a brave soul in the popular WB thriller "Buffy The Vampire Slayer."

The styles in WB's top-rated "Dawson's Creek" hark to the 70's look. Kerr Smith, Michelle Williams, James Van Der Beek, and Katie Holmes starred in one of prime time's hottest teen TV shows.

"Just The Two Of Us." Will Smith and his son Trey starred in a hit music video and dad scored with movie, "Enemy of the State," hit single, "Miami," and top-selling album, "Big Willie Style." Smith won three American Music Awards this year.

With the hard drive and monitor all in one unit, Steve Jobs, of Apple Computer, successfully launched the iMac.

Bugs were small but big. The 1998 version of this classic has the engine in the front.

Also in the forefront was the coming millennium and the Year 2000 Bug, alias Y2K. Power, communication and transportation systems might fail if we don't swat this pesky bug.

buzz buzz buzz at the box office

↑ Teens flashed back to the '50's and found that the black and white world wasn't as perfect as it looked in "Pleasantville."

↑ Unsinkable. With stars Leonardo DiCaprio and Kate Winslet at the prow, "Titanic" was flooded with Academy Awards in '98. Video sales soared this year.

↑ Stephen Spielberg's movie, "Saving Private Ryan," starring two-time Oscar winner, Tom Hanks, along with Matt Damon, Edward Burns, and Tom Sizemore made history. The opening D-Day landing sequence was possibly the most realistic combat sequence ever filmed.

↑ Bug movies hatched on screens across the country. Woody Allen, Sharon Stone, Gene Hackman and Sylvester Stallone gave voice to "Antz." Did you recognize Seinfeld's Julia Louis-Dreyfus, Frasier's David Hyde Pierce, and Kevin Spacey in "A Bug's Life"?

↑ Godzilla stomped onto the scene this year. Some say that the 30-second Taco Bell tie-in featuring the Chihuahua was more fun than the movie itself.
