| Music is a language that unites the world. Even if you don't understand someone's language, you can often listen to a song from their culture and find something to enjoy. Choose one musical tradition listed below and listen to one of the short podcasts on the page. Click here for music from the Arab world Click here for music from the Gulf Coast Highway Click here for music from India Share what you learned with an older family member or trusted adult, then ask them about music that they enjoy. Try one of these questions: What music do you like? What did you listen to when you were younger? Who is your favorite artist that doesn't sing in English? Bonus: If you can, try to have your conversation in your home language! |  Click here to fill in the blank using some classic songs from the '50's, '60's, and '70's Try to do the same song twice- once with a word bank, once without.  | Ever sung in a chorus before? Although your ensemble might be virtual at the moment, it's still good to know how to sing as a part of a team. Click here to read some tips. Can you jot down one take-away to share with a friend the next time you're singing in a group? <hr/>  | How many basic musical vocabulary words do you know? Click here to take a quiz that will help you learn as you go  | Click here to do LyricsTraining! How well do you really know your favorite song?  |
