

Pre-k Choice Board

Listening

Listening

Listening

Listening

Speaking

Speaking

Speaking

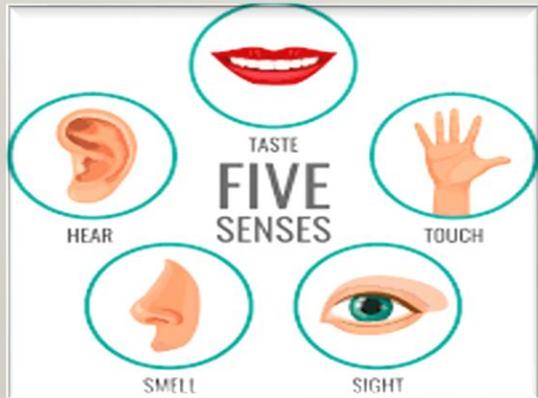

Speaking

Click here to listen to "The 5 Senses Song" by Jack Hartmann. After listening to the song, share your favorite part.

Click here to join Miss Penny and her class on a field trip to Pelican Harbor Marina, where you will learn about the fascinating sea creatures found in Biscayne Bay. Explore the marina, discover its diverse marine life, and enjoy a unique learning experience.

Click here to listen to 100 kids sharing their scariest dreams. Afterward, share a story about one of your own dreams. Describe who was in your dream and what it was about. Was it a funny, happy, or scary dream?

Click here to watch kids participating in a game of Simon Says. Gather a friend or family member and play the game together. Think about the commands you will give during the game. Will they be silly, challenging, or both?

#simonsays #simonsaysong #simonsaysforkids
Simon Says Song for Children by Patty Shukla

 My favorite part was singing along and learning about the five senses: "How do you smell a rose?" With my nose. "How do you see the sky?" With my eyes. "How do you hear a cheer?" With my ears. "How do you taste some gum?" With my tongue. "How do you touch a friend?" With my hands.

 What was your favorite part? My favorite part was when the kids caught various sea creatures to observe. They used nets to catch fish, shrimp, and crabs. I learned that crabs can be quite small and that they use camouflage to blend into their surroundings, protecting themselves from predators.

 Once, I had a dream where I was chased by a box with four legs and no arms. My baby brother came to my rescue by sitting on the box and flattening it out. I found this dream to be quite silly and amusing. It makes me curious about what kind of dreams I might have tonight.

 When I played Simon Says, these were the commands I gave:
"Simon says, stomp your feet."
"Simon says, bend your knees."
"Simon says, touch your ears."
"Simon says, snap your fingers."