Listening

Click here to meet a boy with feelings so big that they glow from his cheeks, spill out of his eyes, and jump up and down on his chest.

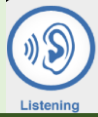

Written by Britney Winn Lee and illustrated by Jacob Souva, The Boy with Big, Big Feelings. What does the boy realize in the story?

Read Aloud: The Boy with Big, Big Feelings

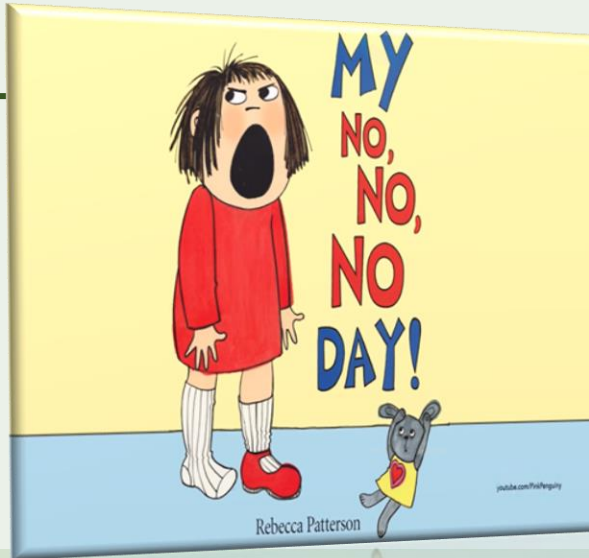

What kind of feelings does the boy show? What does the boy realize about his feelings? When a loud truck drives by, he cries. When he hears a joke, he bursts with joy. When his loved ones are having a hard day, he feels their emotions as if they were his own. The boy tries to cope by stuffing down his feelings, but with a little help and artistic inspiration, the boy realizes his feelings are something to be celebrated

Listening

Click here to listen to My No, No, No Day, written by Rebecca Patterson. Bella's day goes very wrong. This story illustrates that it is ok to have a bad day. Sometimes things don't go your way, and it's ok.

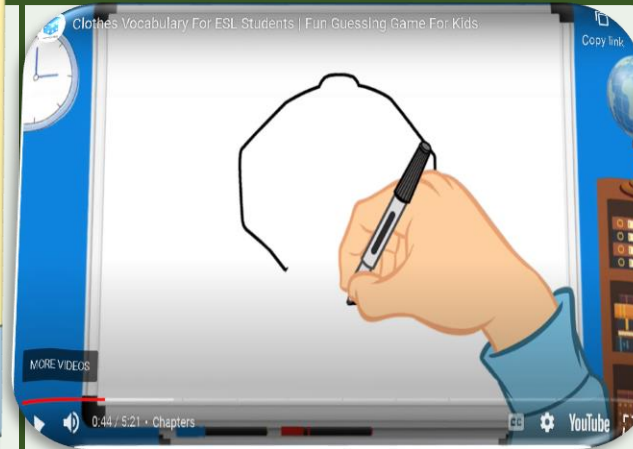

Why is Bella so upset? "Bella is upset with her brother for crawling around her room and taking her jewelry. She's also upset that she has to wear red shoes. Bella is having a very bad day. Her mom helps her by telling her the next day will be better. To Bella's surprise her mom was right. The next day was much better!"

Speaking

Click here to learn English vocabulary about clothes with this fun guessing game. Guess what piece of clothing is in the picture before the time runs out. Did you guess all of them? Which piece of clothing was difficult to guess?

"I was able to guess most the pictures. I guessed the cap, shirt, socks, shorts, dress, and shoes. I was unable to guess the orange hat."

Speaking

Click here to build a house! What kind of wall will you choose? Will you add a roof? What about doors and windows? Will you add some decorations? Create your house and then find a friend or family member to tell them about your house!

"I used a white wall and a golden roof for my house. I added two doors, and one heart-shaped window. I printed my picture and told my mom all about my creation."
