Click here to listen to, Oh, the Places You'll Go! Written by Dr. Seuss and read by Michelle Obama. What do you think Dr. Seuss means by, "Kid, you'll move mountains.?"

What does Dr. Seuss mean by, "Kid, you'll move mountains! Today is your day! Your mountain is waiting. So get on your way!" "I think it means that kids can do great things. If you put your mind to it, you can do great things. Meaning you are serious about learning something or achieving something, then you can do it. All you have to do is practice and not give up."

Click here to go on a field trip with Ms. Penny and the KidVision Pre-K Kids as they visit a construction site to see what it takes to construct a new building. They learn about planning, safety, and measuring, and even practice using tools. It's quite a site!

What did you learn? What was your favorite part? "I learned it's important to wear a hard hat and a bright vest when working at a construction site. A hard hat keeps your head safe from falling objects and a bright vest makes it easier for people to see one another. My favorite part was when the kids go to go on the machines and see how they work."
